

Learn about playwriting and creative ways to meet literacy standards

summer 2015

New Voices institute

The Louisville Writing Project and the Kentucky Writing Project Network are proud to present this exciting 3-day workshop.

Teacher consultants who have worked with Actors' Theatre to engage students in playwriting will share classroom-tested strategies and materials that address speaking/listening, reading & writing standards. Participants will also learn a process for developing a 10-minute play and how to engage students in "the living newspaper," a great way to integrate research & content into a writing experience. Learn about ATL's New Voices contest. Winning student plays are produced by Actors Theatre in April 2015. Check out this opportunity at <http://actorstheatre.org/participate/submit-a-play/new-voices/>

- Experienced Teacher Leaders to assist you in learning how to engage teens in playwriting
- Resources to take back to your school
- TIME and assistance as you develop your playwriting skills
- Opportunities for follow-up at our Fall 2015 Mini-Conference
- Recommended for middle and high school teachers (ELA, drama, SS)

And...consider attending the 2015 New Voices Young Playwrights Festival, April 27 and 28, 2015, 7 p.m.

Free tickets are available in March...limit 6 per household. Call Actor's Theatre at (502) 584-1205 for more information.
